

In Commemoration of

National Minority Cancer Awareness Week

The Faith-Based Cancer Disparities Network asks our community to join us in a

Week of Prayer for the Healing of Cancer

April 17 – April 23, 2011

Please dedicate your morning and evening prayer services and your personal prayer time to those living with cancer; focus your Bible study on miraculous healings; and learn more about what you can do to prevent cancer and to support those affected by cancer.

The Faith-Based Cancer Disparities Network is a collaboration between nine faith-based organizations, Dana-Farber/Harvard Cancer Center, Black Ministerial Alliance, and the American Cancer Society, partnering together in an effort to eliminate the unequal burden of cancer in communities of color.

If you have any questions, please contact: Athene Wilson-Glover Community Outreach Coordinator/Health Educator • 617.632.4860 or visit www.cancerdisparities.org