

Short-Term Rehospitalization Across the Spectrum of Age and Insurance Types in the United States

Non-Medicare 30-day readmissions (below) are common and costly

44% of readmissions were non-Medicare patients

14.5% readmitted within 30 days
Associated costs exceeded $21 billion in 2013

Medicaid patients have the highest odds of readmission among those ≥ 45 years old

12% increased odds of readmission in those ≥ 65

2x greater odds of readmission in those 45-64 years old

Psychiatric disease and substance abuse were the most common causes of readmission

24% readmission rate for psychiatric disease and substance abuse